"BIGGEST BATTLE" RAGES—In all-out offensive, North Koreans threw nine divisions—45,000 men—against the whole Allied line from north to south. Greatest gain was in south, where Reds charged toward Pusan, either capturing or by-passing Chinju (1). They also claimed capture of former Jap naval base at Yosu (2). Seven miles north west of Sangju (3) invader drove a wedge between U. S. 25th Division and South Koreans on their right in apparent thrust at critical transport junction of Taegu (4). Another Red flanking thrust from Namwon (5) captured Anui (6). South Koreans forced Reds back from Yongdok (7), stalling threatened Communist drive down the east coast.

N. Koreans Have Lost 31,000 Men, 170 Tanks

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, July 29—(AP)—A spokesman for General MacArthur said today that by conservative estimate the North Koreans have lost 31,000 men killed and wounded since the war started.

The Reds also lost 170 tanks destroyed and 100 damaged, the military planning spokesman said.

8 Persons Hurt On Area Roads

Youngstown Man In Serious Condition

Eight persons were injured, one critically, in six accidents last night on adjacent highways.

Eli Milakovich, 41, of Poland ave., Youngstown, is in serious condition today at City Hospital after suffering a possible fractured skull and bruises of the face, head and chest. He was a passenger in the car driven by Mike Milakovich, 33, of the same address.

State patrolmen said the car was passing a farm tractor when it crashed head-on into a truck operated by John M. Bain, 24, of Canton, at 5:05 p. m. on Route 62, near Horvath's Inn, three miles south of Canfield. Both vehicles were heavily damaged.

Mike Milakovich was admitted at City Hospital with fractured left ribs and abrasions of the head. Bain received chest injuries and was treated in Canton upon his return there.

2 Injured On Route 30

In two one-car accidents two people were hurt.

At 3:30 p. m. Friday on Route 30, near the junction of Routes 7 and 30, Norman Smith, 23, of Burgettstown, Pa., was driving a truck-tractor when one of the saddle gas tanks fell off. The rear wheels ran over the tank and overturned the tractor. He suffered face lacerations.

Mike Mahon, 63, of Negley, a passenger in the car driven by William E. Cunningham, 23, Negley, received lacerations of the face and was treated by an East Palestine doctor following an accident.

2 City Water Wells To Increase Supply

Two of three city water wells have been acid-cleaned and put into operation to increase the city's water supply, B. V. BeVier, water superintendent, said today.

The third well is being repaired and will be put into operation sometime today, along with the re-equipping of an old abandoned well on the property of F. S. Barckhoff, city engineer, on S. Lincoln ave.

Output from the four wells is expected to increase the water supply by 75 gallons a minute. However, Mr. BeVier termed the water shortage as "still acute."

The shortage was caused this week by loss of water from three breaks in water mains at the pump station, on E. Pershing ave. and on S. Lincoln ave. The breaks have been repaired, he said.

Mother Questioned In Fatal Shooting

STUEBENVILLE, July 29—Sheriff Clarence Eberts of Jefferson county is questioning the mother of five children, who, he said, shot and killed her husband near Amsterdam, 17 miles northwest of here, shortly after 1 a. m. today.

No charges have been filed. Slain with a single blast from a shotgun was John Flack, 38, a coal miner employed at the Wo! Run mine.

Sheriff Eberts said the wife, Denise, 37, told him the shooting climaxed a quarrel and that she had warned her husband not to "come any closer."

Mrs. Flack also said her husband had beaten her yesterday, the sheriff added.

A son, John Flack, 17, lives in Detroit. Three daughters and one son ranging in ages from eight to 15 years, are at home.

Ben Fairless' Uncle

Warren Merchant, Dies

WARREN, July 29—(AP)—William H. Ray, 81, former operator of a wallpaper store here, died yesterday at his home. He was an uncle of Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Corp. He is survived by two daughters, Ada of Youngstown and Mrs. Helen Strook of Warren; and four sons, Raymond and Russell of Warren, Early of Youngstown and Carl of Canton.

Funeral services will be held here Monday.

Brussels Scene Of Wild Riots Over Leopold

Rebels May Establish Socialist Government In Different City

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 29—(AP)—Wild rioting by thousands of anti-Leopoldists broke out anew in Brussels today. A state of siege was declared in the industrial city of Liege, government sources said.

A battalion of the crack Chasseurs Ardennais regiment was alerted to move into that French-speaking center, a stronghold of Socialist-led forces who want to drive King Leopold from the throne he regained a week ago. Liege was paralyzed by strikes. The city's governor resigned, either unable or unwilling to carry out the government's orders against the strikers.

There were unconfirmed rumors that an attempt might be made to set up a rebel provisional government in Liege. The more extreme Walloon Separatists have long wanted to secede from Belgium and throw in their lot with France. These, however, are only a noisy minority group.

Police Charge Crowds Rioters started marching through Brussels at noon, singing the revolutionary "Marseillaise." Mounted police, with drawn swords, charged a crowd on the Place de Brouckere—the Times Square of Brussels—as it was trying to overturn a street car.

The rioters had dragged the motorman and his two protecting gendarmes from the car. Mounted police rode in, striking wildly with their sabres in all directions.

The gendarmes drew a cordon across the square but were attacked by the demonstrators. Horses reared and plunged under a shower of bottles, cafe chairs and tables snatched from a nearby terrace.

The crowd forced its way through the police cordon and marched triumphantly along the Boulevard Adolphe Max to the Place Rogier in front of the north station, where Socialist leader Madame Isabel Blum harangued the crowd: "We are fighting for the good of the country. The gendarmes have no right to strike at us."

Parliament Guarded Meantime, the gendarmes had retreated into the narrow Rue Neuve to regroup.

The Socialist appealed to the crowd to maintain order. Guards were again thrown around parliament.

Workers from anti-Leopold southern Belgium poured into Brussels.

Another battalion of troops was reported to have been ordered into coal-mining sections of Hainaut province and the strike-bound cities of Charleroi and Mons.

Anti-Leopoldists were active even in the king's Flemish stronghold.

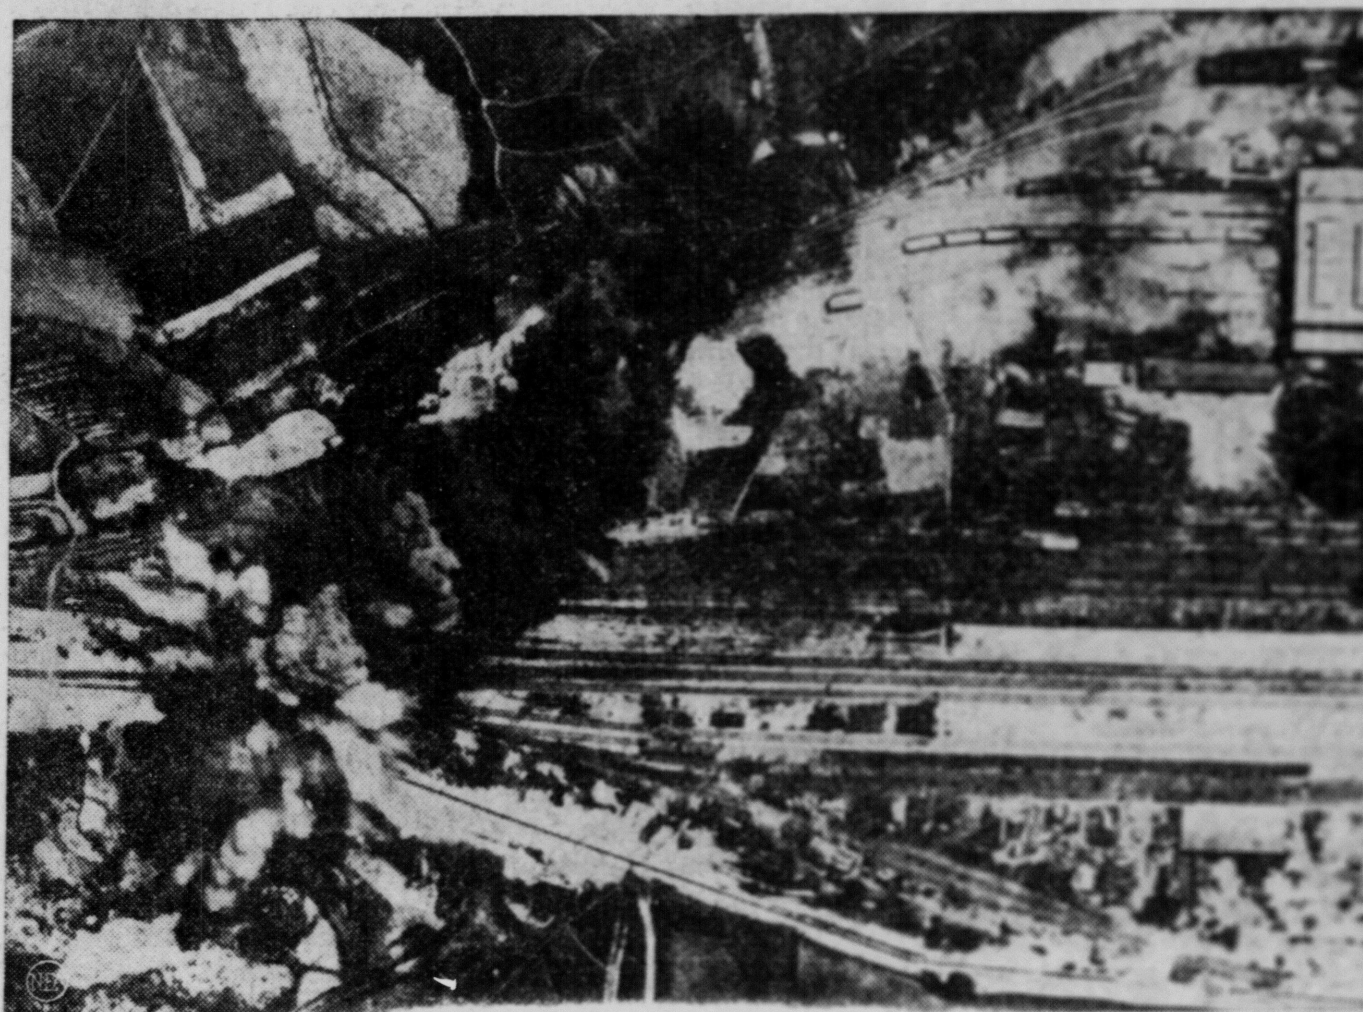

A bridge linking two docks at the great Flemish port of Antwerp was blown up. The capital's power plants were on reduced production and more than half the city was without public utilities.

Max Buset, leader of the socialist party, said he had been summoned to an audience with the king at Laeken palace but had refused to go.

The only news from Laeken, where the king has remained in seclusion since his return from Switzerland, was that he had chosen his personal secretariat.

Rare Metal Found Near U. S. Capitol

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP)—Germanium, one of the rarest of metals and a wartime strategic material of utmost importance, has been discovered almost in the shadow of the capitol.

The only catch is that scattered nature of the deposits makes profitable recovery extremely doubtful.

Nevertheless, experts have tabbed the concentration in the District of Columbia area the world's second richest known concentration of the rare element which was first discovered in Germany in 1886.

During the last war Germanium was found to be extremely important, due to unique properties of its crystals. They pass an electric current in one direction only. It was invaluable in detecting ultra-high frequency radio and radar signals.

Germanium also is essential in various types of optical glass and has been used in the treatment of pernicious anemia. It is a hard brittle, grayish-white metal. It is so brittle that it cannot be drilled.

49 Perish In Worst Brazilian Plane Crash

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 29—(AP)—All 49 persons aboard perished last night when a Brazilian Constellation crashed near Porto Alegre. It was the worst disaster in the country's aviation history.

Among the 43 passengers was Ralph Motley, 48, an American, sales manager in Rio for the Atlantic Refining Company. He came here from Richmond, Ind. All the other passengers and crew members were believed to be Brazilians.

Leetonian Involved In Army Mixup

LEETONIA, July 29—Edward Elmer Early of Pearl St., who has never been in the army, gulped and swallowed hard when two officers of the U. S. Provost Marshal's office confronted him with papers showing that he was A.W.O.L. from Camp Atterbury, Indiana.

Yes, it was true Early had four brothers just like the missing army recruit and his street address, age, weight and height checked perfectly. But all Edward Elmer Early knew about army life was what he had read in the papers.

Willing to help the officers unravel the mystery, the Leetonian permitted them to take his fingerprints. They told Mr. Early he might have to make a trip to Fort Hayes, Columbus, to help unscramble the tangle.

Early, a crane man for the Columbiana Boiler Co., is 38 years old.

Warm And Sunny Is Weekend Forecast

The weatherman smiled on Ohio's outdoor enthusiasts today and promised lots of sunshine and warm weather over the weekend.

"Aside from a few light and very widely scattered showers late today and tomorrow, most of the state will experience two more days of dry weather and mild temperatures," State Forecaster A. S. Klemetsmo said.

Little change in temperature is expected tomorrow, he added. Highs today will be in the upper 80's, followed by lows tonight around 62.

Latest Test Rocket Reaches 3600 MPH

LONG RANGE PROVING GROUND, COCOA, FLA., July 29—(AP)—A 14 1/2-ton two-stage rocket thundered eastward over the Atlantic today at a speed of 2,727 miles an hour for the first missile and around 3,600 miles an hour for the second.

Excellent conditions permitted observers to watch twin vapor trails after the two rockets separated about nine miles up and 22 miles east of the concrete launching pad.

The missile was made up of a captured German V-2 weighing 14 tons with a 700-pound rocket known as the "WAC corporal" mounted atop it. The two missiles were 60 feet high from base to top.

The V-2 thundered aloft at 7.44 a. m. and in a matter of seconds attained its 2,727-mile speed. It reached an altitude of nine miles in 63 seconds. There the "WAC corporal" separated from it and roared eastward at a speed in excess of 3,600 feet a second, or some 3,600 miles an hour.

Gen. Walker At Front; Blows Stagger Enemy

TOKYO, July 29—(AP)—Under orders to "fight to the death," American infantrymen held their mountain positions today against waves of attacking North Korean Communists.

The order to fight it out on their present lines came from Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the U. S. 8th army, in an unheralded visit to a front-line command post.

"My army is not going to give up one more inch," Walker said, "we will stand."

American infantrymen showed their willingness to back up this order by strong counterattacks that checked a Communist push and piled up the North Korean dead. Red pressure shifted, but their guns and infantry continued to hammer at American and South Korean lines.

By mid-afternoon Saturday there were no marked or important changes in the line, a spokesman for General MacArthur's headquarters said.

American warplanes slipped in under the clouds to blast Red troops and trucks and blast two enemy held towns.

"This operation very definitely has entered its critical stage," Gen. Walker said after flying over the front and conferring with his division commanders. "We will hold the positions we have and fight it out here."

He said he had "bright" hopes of reinforcements, was "absolutely confident of success," and added:

"Everyone must fight to the death without any thought of withdrawal from Korea."

The Reds were using heavy losses. More than 5,000 died before the blinding guns of the U. S. First Cavalry and 20th infantry divisions. How many Reds were wounded none could tell.

Warplanes Active

Allied war planes, backed up and from carriers, rained dropping Korean armor unchallenged, causing destruction on the enemy's transport and supply centers.

News of reinforcements from Okinawa, American airbases and from the Japanese south of Japan, was reported officially but unofficially. They were not mentioned by General MacArthur's column.

However, the official release did report "an American combat unit" checked a southern coastal thrust at Pongpoo, 50 miles west of Pusan—vital southern port supplying the Allied landing operation. Two other Red columns were similarly stalled in the south.

Counterattacking units of the U. S. First Cavalry and 20th infantry divisions regained ground snatched Friday night on the central front in the critical Kwangju sector.

The ferocity of the Communist assault was indicated by MacArthur's report that more than 2,500 Reds were killed by the First Cavalry division. More than 400 North Korean dead were counted in front of the 20th regimental combat team of the 20th division.

Hold On to Bataan

Associated Press Correspondent Sam Whittaker reported that the U. S. counter thrust had stabilized the line in that sector. At that time—about noon Saturday—Bataan evidently still was in American hands.

Bataan is reported in this "bottle of poison." It is a key railway and highway town only 10 road miles northwest of the American supply and communications center of Iloilo.

A spokesman at MacArthur's headquarters had described the continuing action as a battle of attrition. "The (the enemy) must have a decision quickly," General Walker said that a "Bataanese" was impossible—a reference to the British withdrawal from Europe only in World War II.

Except for "slight adjustments," no appreciable change in the current 200-mile mountainous front was reported in the 24-hour period up to about noon Saturday.

A powerful North Korean attack, begun early Friday against the 20th infantry regiment, made a "slight penetration" in American lines, but MacArthur reported the ground was regained in the U. S. counter thrust.

Confident Living

By DR. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

An Easy Way To An Easy Mind

EVERYBODY seems to be looking for an easy mind, call it "peace of mind," "peace of soul" or what you will. That's because, though we're the most expert generation in history technologically, we are unexpert in the art of living.

We have practically everything: automobiles, movies, radios, television, air-conditioning, miracle drugs, pensions, social security, the atom and hydrogen bombs—some of them good, some doubtful and some pretty bad. No generation has ever had such abundance, yet seemingly, we don't know how to use what we have.

In getting all these material things, we have missed a more important attainment, easiness of mind. Sometimes one wonders what good it does us to get all that we have.

I was thinking about this the other day when something that happened a long while ago in upstate New York came to my mind. There's a town there through which the Empire State Express roars every afternoon at a very high rate of speed. It doesn't stop, it just whizzes through.

Every day, an old farmer used to go down to the station to watch the train come through—the chief item of excitement in that community. He would lean against the corner of the building, his dog beside him, and he needed no stationmaster to tell him when the train was approaching, because the dog knew. He would go to the end of the platform and stand poised, ears cocked, every muscle tense, a beautiful picture of alertness. When the engine drew abreast of him, he would turn and race beside it to the end of the platform and stand, ears back, barking defiantly until the train disappeared in a cloud of dust around the curve.

"That's a crazy dog," the stationmaster once told its owner. "Does he think he can catch the Empire State Express?"

"That ain't the craziest thing about him," drawled the farmer. "The craziest thing is what would he do with it if he did catch it!"

WELL, WE ARE just as foolish as that dog. We have caught the Empire State Express of material progress. We have caught everything in the science of gadgets. We are the beneficiaries of the greatest technological era known to history. Our science is superb, but our happiness is not. We are dissatisfied. We are victims of more heart attacks, more high blood pressure and more nervous breakdowns per hundred of population than ever before in the history of the world. Is it surprising that everyone is seeking an easy mind?

There is an easy way to an easy mind. Simply start to practice

The Modern Farms

Crops In 1950
Look PromisingVegetables Growing
Exceptionally Well

THE 1950 DISTRICT CROP outlook appears to be promising, Canfield Experimental Station officials reported.

Vegetables are growing exceptionally well due to the almost daily rains and all fruits, except apples, seem to be doing all right. Only about 50 per cent of the apple crop throughout Ohio is expected.

The wheat crop will be about fair and hot weather is required for corn, officials said.

FIELDS OF ONIONS that were sprayed with DDT to protect the plants against the ravages of the onion thrips produced almost twice as many onions as did unsprayed fields, according to J. P. Sleetman, entomologist. The bulbs were larger, of better quality and command a higher price on the market.

RECENT EXPERIMENTS in raising dairy calves on a high roughage system with a limited amount of milk and grain concentrates will be discussed by J. W. Hibbs of the Wooster Experiment Station at the Dairy Day program August 11.

The success of this method depends upon early development of the rumen or paunch. Such conditions are created by limiting the amount of grain fed to less than the amount of good quality roughage being eaten, plus several cud inoculations from older cattle during the first few weeks to assure an early supply of rumen roughage-digesting microorganisms, says Hibbs.

Visitors will see a number of calves raised on this new system and a demonstration of cud inoculation during a tour of the dairy barn at 11:30 a. m.

SIXTEEN MAHONING county rural women have returned from camping three days at Camp Whitewood in Ashtabula County. Rural women attended from five other counties, bringing the total number of campers to 112.

Crafts taught at camp were basketry, glass painting, oil painting, and leather.

Women who attended from Mahoning County and townships each represented are as follows:

Mrs. John Repasky, Mrs. Lester Hawks, and Mrs. John Poulson, Poland; Mrs. George Stackhouse, Mrs. Leonard Mentzer, Mrs. John Youshua, Beaver; Mrs. Guy Brown, Springfield;

Mrs. Lester Calvin, Mrs. Julian Howe, Mrs. Myron Charlton, Mrs. D. M. Charlton, and Mrs. Cora Daugherty, Green; Mrs. J. W. Mullen, and Mrs. Anna Oyster, Youngstown; Mrs. El Long, and Miss Marcheta Porter, Jackson. The Home Demonstration Agent, Helen V. Frock, also attended.

Ohio Tax Structure
Sound, Glander Says

COLUMBUS, July 29—(UP)—Ohio's tax structure is "basically sound," State Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander reported today.

Glander, the state's career tax expert, made the statement in a report on Ohio tax changes since 1947 and new taxes levied by other states. The report was a supplement to a comprehensive study of Ohio taxes which Glander made in 1947.

"While Ohio's tax structure has its defects and its inequalities which should be corrected, the fact remains that it was a sound and a post-war inflationary boom," Glander reported. "While many of our sister states have been levying new or increased taxes since 1947 to meet increasing costs," he added, "Ohio up to the present time has avoided both."

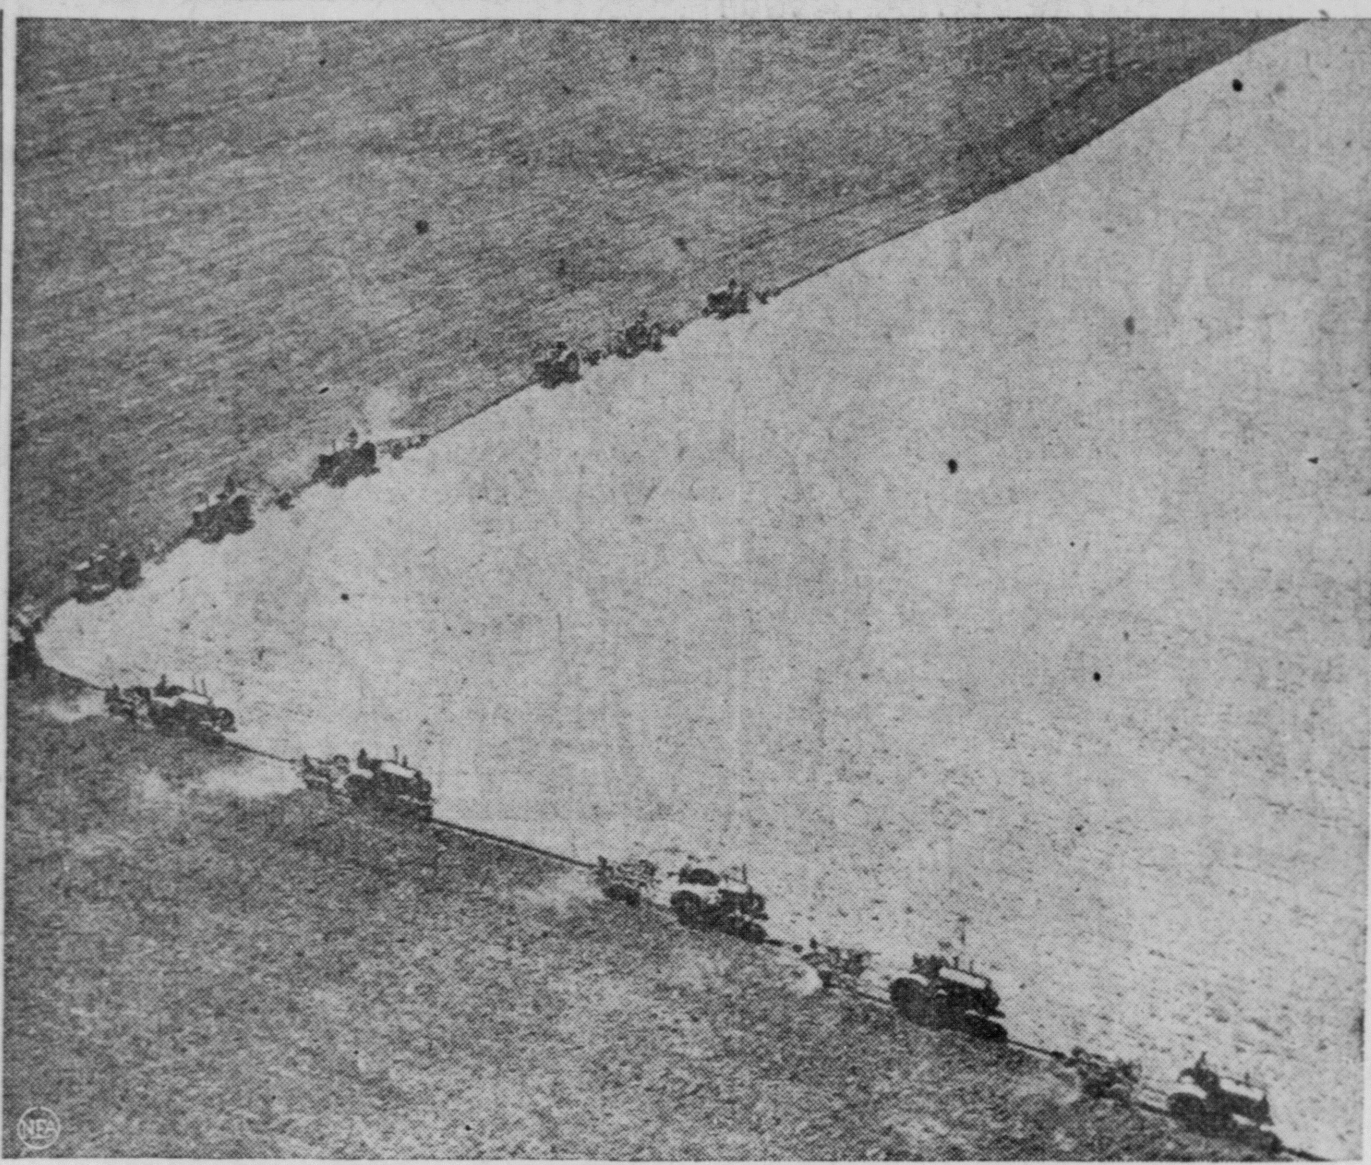

The tax chief said he would like to see the inequities in Ohio's tax system corrected. But, he said, the major problem now is "controlling increasing expenditures rather than raising additional revenues or changing our basic tax structure."

Jaycees Discuss Plans
For Annual Youth Week

At the Junior Chamber of Commerce outdoor meeting Thursday night at the Salem Country Club, President Horace Schwartz led a discussion on plans for Youth Week. The annual event will be held Aug. 14 to 20.

He announced a special meeting to be held Thursday at the Jaycee clubrooms when inter-organization relationships will be discussed.

Guests at this meeting will be William Kessler of Zanesville, past state Jaycee president and present national director; Gerald Walker of Mount Vernon, state vice president; Watson Watts of Ravenna, past state vice president; and Robert Tice of Alliance, national director.

RAISING CAIN'S SPIRITS—When Wentz Cain of Lyons, Kan., became sick and unable to plow his farm, 12 of his neighbors hooked their tractors to plows and did the job for him. They made short work—and a pretty aerial picture—of plowing Cain's acres for next year's crops.

Hoover Tells Public
How To Help FBI

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover told Americans today how, in seven ways, they can help the FBI curb saboteurs and other domestic enemies in the present military emergency.

The first and most important step: Call the FBI quickly with any information you may have.

Hoover emphasized that his FBI is not interested in malicious gossip or idle rumors, nor in what a person thinks. But, he said, it most specifically wants facts on actions "which undermine internal security."

President Truman called on the American public last Monday to channel any information on spying, sabotage or other subversive activities to the FBI. "The internal security of the United States can be assured," the director asserted, "with the cooperation, aid and assistance of every law-abiding person in our nation."

Commission On Ohio
Liquor Sales Resumed

COLUMBUS, July 29—(AP)—The Liquor Department notified Ohio's 41 liquor agencies it will resume paying a 5 per cent commission on their sales.

The agencies, operated under private contract to the department and separate from liquor stores haven't received any commissions since last Feb. 27.

Money allocated to pay them during the fiscal year ran out then. Unpaid commission to June 30, end of the fiscal year, total $93,751.

Liquor Director Oscar L. Flickner in a letter to agencies said $196,860 is available for commissions during the fiscal year—July 1, 1949 to June 30, 1950.

Earned but unpaid commissions from Feb. 27 to July 1 included these agencies:

Lisbon (Adam P. Rudibaugh) $1,563.
Dillonvale (John Olszeski), $1,415.
Mingo Junction (Earl D. Applegate), $2,629.

Fewer Ohioans File
For Jobless Benefits

COLUMBUS, July 29—(AP)—Fewer Ohioans are filing for jobless benefits these days.

The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation said the weekly average last month was 69,787. This is one-fifth under May and 63,745 under June, 1949.

But Administrator Frank J. Collopy said: "this is a considerable change from the weekly average of 156,338 persons filing claims in January of this year."

He said benefit payments for June were $6,061,513. This is 26 per cent under May.

Alaska Guards Ordered To Shoot If Necessary

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, July 29—Security guards at Fort Richardson have orders to shoot if necessary to halt trespassers found wandering in restricted areas, post commander Brig. Gen. Donald R. Hutchinson said today.

Hutchinson reported several instances recently where unidentified persons have been seen fleeing into the woods near aircraft dispersal units when challenged by guards.

Veteran U. S. Transport
Prepared For Service

BOSTON, July 29—(AP)—The U.S.S. Libra, big attack transport, was taken out of the "mothball" fleet here today and the task of preparing her for war service begun.

The Libra, technically an AKA, or auxiliary cargo-attack ship, participated in some of the fiercest actions in the Pacific War. She is 459 feet long and of 6,000 gross tonnage. Designed to transport both troops and cargo, she carries her own landing craft.

N. Koreans Reported
Recruiting Women

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP)—The Army said today the North Koreans are reported to be recruiting 50,000 Korean women for use in the combat area.

A spokesman said no indication has been received as to whether the women are being recruited in South or North Korea and none as to how the Communists intend to use them.

Ample Steel Supply
Believed Available

NEW YORK, July 29—(AP)—Leading steel producers believe ample steel can be supplied to meet the needs of the nation's military program without greatly affecting civilian users.

This was the gist of comments by Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Chairman Irving S. Olds of United States Steel Corp., in news conferences here.

U. S. Steel's subsidiaries account for about a third of the nation's total steelmaking capacity. Bethlehem is the second largest producer.

Mr. Grace expressed belief that the nation can build up its military strength to required size and at the same time maintain its prosperous domestic economy.

Upholsterers Resume
Work After Walkout

EAST PALESTINE, July 29—The Kenmar Manufacturing Co. resumed full production Friday after the furniture plant was tied up two hours late Thursday by a walkout of 40 upholsterers in a dispute over piecework rates.

An agreement to arbitrate ended the walkout. The workers are members of the United Construction Workers (CIO).

Leetonia—

Tax Levy Due
For Fall BallotBoard Of Education
Favors 3-Mill Levy

LEETONIA, July 29—The Board of Education of the Leetonia Exempted School District has voted to levy a tax for current expenses. The three-mill levy will appear on the November ballot for approval of the voters of the district.

This three-mill levy is not a new tax but in reality is a renewal of a three-mill levy in two sections that has been rearranged and the continuation of the old levies.

Explaining the two sections, the two mill levy expires in 1950 and the one mill levy expires in 1951. If the three mill levy is passed at the November election, a total of four mills would be collected during 1951 but at the end of the year only the three-mill levy would be in effect and would continue for the next four years.

Leetonia Briefs:

The Board of Education has hired Mrs. Betty L. Porter of Lisbon as the girls' physical education instructor in high school.

Franklin Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell, first honor graduate in the Class of 1950, has been awarded a $300 scholarship at Penn College, Cleveland.

Rev. G. S. Strausbaugh of Columbiana will speak at the Presbyterian Church Sunday at 11 in the absence of the pastor, Rev. John A. King, who is on vacation.

Mrs. Nettie Fair entertained the South Side Sewing Club Friday evening.

The Christine Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church held a farewell picnic at the home of Nancy Stelts Thursday evening honoring their teacher, Mrs. Harold C. Cowher, who is moving to Youngstown in the near future. Mrs. Cowher was presented a gift from the girls.

The Crescent Machine Division office girls were entertained at the Crescent Stables Thursday evening by Dorothy Farmer.

A Refreshing Difference

THE OHIO Farm Bureau is tackling a problem that has baffled a great many organizations and individuals—how to keep farm and city people from drifting apart. The Bureau starts with the usual assumption that there would be no problem if farm and city people knew each other better. It proposes to do everything it can to get them better acquainted, and it has a big idea.

In the bureau's advisory council guide, which is used by Farm Bureau groups in their discussion councils, appears this remarkable statement:

"Where farm and city meet is everywhere. We can do much to build bridges of friendship to our neighbors. Working together we can more often find most satisfactory answers to our common needs. Instead of stressing our differences we will make better headway by keeping our eyes on our common problems. We don't start out trying to change the other fellow's thinking. We get together and learn to know each other better. We face the same facts together. We adjust our own thinking in the light of new discoveries that come out of our thinking together as a group."

Remembering the bitter-end hostility of some of the other groups in this country which have been drifting apart, no one can help but notice a refreshing difference in the viewpoint of an organization which seems to want to pull people back together—and admits that it may be a give-and-take process, instead of unconditional surrender.

Bomb-Blasters

IT HAS BEEN announced in a White House press conference that the atomic bomb's use in connection with the war in Korea is not being contemplated.

This is a pointed reminder that popular thinking about the atomic bomb has been confused by a mistaken notion of what it meant in the closing days of the war with Japan.

There is no concrete evidence that it caused Japan to surrender. There is compelling evidence that Japan's surrender already had been agreed on and that the great explosions at Hiroshima and Nagasaki merely hastened the final steps leading to it. The A-bombs used in 1945 were not definitive weapons and would not be definitive weapons in 1950.

Military realists wish wars could be settled by some definitive weapons; they wish they could find such a weapon. But they know it isn't that simple. In the months ahead, they will hear the claim that a few atomic bombs dropped in the right places would settle all issues in dispute between the United States and the Soviet Union. If that were true, it would be just as true in one application as another. Twelve atomic bombs dropped on 12 of America's largest cities, including Washington, would put the United States out of the running just as surely as 12 bombs dropped on 12 of Russia's large cities, including Moscow, would take care of the Communist conspiracy. War isn't that simple.

Shoelace Trick

IN THE effort to keep abreast of events in a troubled world, Jacob Malik's return to the United Nations to end the Soviet Union's boycott, must be weighed and pondered.

It makes you think of the neighborhood kid who was always trying to assert himself in some unpleasant way. If there was a ball game going on, he would grab the ball and run away. Or he would pout. If the rest of the kids seemed to be getting along all right without him, he would muscle in and start a fight.

As might be expected, he fought with his head better than he fought with his fists. One of his tricks was to catch the other kid off guard by telling him his shoelace was untied. When the other kid yielded to the impulse to look, wham! It used to take a lot of patience to bear up under the load of annoyances that kid imposed on the neighborhood.

The United Nations, in behalf of all who have not abandoned hope in it, welcomes the return of the Soviet Union's representative. But don't try that shoelace, Jake! That one is worn out.

We Bet We Live Longer

AMERICANS have looked at the vital statistics and are betting, in spite of the shooting, that they are going to live longer. Insurance figures prove this.

Limited term insurance policies now exceed all others. These are the kind in which the insured agrees to pay for a specific time—usually 15 to 25 years—but the insurance remains in force for life. Until this year the favored policy was the straight life plan in which payments continued for the life of the policy.

Baruch Speaking

By PETER EDSON

He Gives Congressmen An Earful

WASHINGTON—ELDER STATESMAN Bernard Baruch came to Washington to shove a ramrod down the back of Congress, and darn near worked a miracle. He made all-out mobilization converts of Republican senators like Homer Capehart of Indiana, John Bricker of Ohio and Ralph Flanders of Vermont.

They found themselves agreeing in principle with the white-haired, white-linen-suited Baruch. Earlier in the week, it looked as though the Republican senators were about to gum up the act by opposing mobilization plans.

Mr. Baruch came to Washington to testify on President Truman's proposed "Defense Production Act of 1950." Mr. Baruch has been demanding adequate defense preparedness and stand-by legislation for over 30 years—ever since he was mobilization director in World War II. This time it was no different. He testified to the effect that the President's plan is too little and too late. "This bill," he said, "refuses to lock the barn even after the horse has been stolen."

His testimony and answers to questions from senators were filled with similar epigrams and bon mots. "Our choice is peace, or butter," he said. "We can defeat ourselves."

"It seems like my hearing aid is out of order and I'm hearing things I heard before," he said in referring to objections to all-out mobilization at this time. They were raised oddly enough, by the Democratic senators—Paul Douglas of Illinois, J. Allen Frear of Delaware and Willis Robertson of Virginia. They thought the country wasn't ready to accept all-out mobilization. Baruch's idea was that the people were way ahead of Washington on this score.

"IS CONGRESS behind in its thinking?" asked Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives of New York. "I think so," replied Baruch.

"Rome was a great power," he told Senator Douglas, "but the people were softened by circuses. When they rebelled, they cut off the heads of their senators."

"We should make taxes higher than a cat's back," said Baruch. "Higher than a high cat's back," corrected Senator Douglas.

Other points Baruch advocated were: General price and wage controls, rolled back to June 25.

Continued rent controls, which he called, "grabbing a porcupine by the tail." A single mobilizing agency of government. Control over industrial production as there is now control over manpower through the draft law. Postponement of less essential spending. Strengthening of the United Nations. More rearmament assistance to foreign countries.

The reaction of the Republicans to this prescription was something to behold. They hit the sawdust trail one after another.

Senator Bricker called it "complete regimentation," but said, "I agree that these things ought to be done because they weren't done in the last war, and we had inflation."

"The thing I fear," said Bricker, "is mediocrity."

"The only vote I ever regret," said Senator Flanders, "was a party measure to lower taxes in the 80th Congress."

"If you have only one thing to regret," said Mr. Baruch, "you're lucky."

AND SEN. HOMER Capehart, who hasn't liked this idea of controlling industry a little bit, finally came around to the conclusion: "I agree with you. I don't think we can have rationing without price control, or vice-versa. 'So you think we should tear up this bill and write it over?'" Senator Capehart finally asked. "Don't tear it up. Just add to it those sections we've been talking about," replied Mr. Baruch.

It was pure coincidence, of course, but President Truman's mid-year economic report, delayed just a month by the Korean crisis, went to Congress on the same day that Mr. Baruch testified.

The President's recommendations for voluntary allocations, credit control and limited tax increase were milk and water when compared to the rich brew of blood and guts concocted by Mr. Baruch.

Whether to adopt the all-out mobilization plan advocated by Mr. Baruch, or to adopt the half-way measures which the President recommends is what Congress has to decide now.

But still other swift kicks in the pants will apparently have to be applied if the Congressional spine is stiffened enough to do what has to be done. This is to get strong enough to prevent a third world war.

The Yanks Keep Coming

By TRUMAN TWILL

THE trouble is that the Yanks on the sport page and the Yanks on the front page aren't playing the same game.

On the sport page the big guns are booming, and the Yanks keep rolling over the opposition. But on the front page, the big guns are on the drawing boards and the opposition keeps rolling over the Yanks.

Joe Page is having trouble getting the side out, and so is G. I. Joe, fresh out of the bush leagues and needing another year or two in triple-A competition to wise him up in the art of saving his neck when those long ball hitters shell the pitcher out of the box.

It begins to look as if the front office had better make a few deals to strengthen the squad for the short pull, instead of spending so much time building for the future. The future is now, with no one out and the bases loaded—and the customers in the stands beginning to mutter about the management.

In fact the only thing keeping the customers from breaking in with the way things are going is the record. The Yanks all to an angry uproar of dissatisfaction have their ups and downs. Their stars don't deliver in the pinches. Their youngsters don't come up to expectations; they whiff out under pressure.

But year in and year out you have to figure the Yanks to win, place, or show because they don't aim to settle for anything less. No matter how sad they may look in the pre-season dope, or in any spot appraisal during the struggle to finish in the money, they can't be counted out—for a simple reason:

Being Yanks, they have the will to win.

And we're talking now about the Yanks on the front page. This is for them. They are getting their ears knocked off. Some of their best men are out of the game with injuries. It's a big fat question whether the stars of previous seasons are going to be able to do it again. The big guns haven't been booming. And it's a darned uncomfortable feeling to have so many unfriendly people breathing on your neck when you have work to do.

But the will to win is still a tangible asset. If you don't have it, nothing else can conceal the lack of it. If you do have it, there's nothing to conceal.

It made all the difference in the first pennant race against the British reds. Everything was against the Yanks in that one, except the will to win. It made the difference against the red Indians, as far as that is concerned, and against the Heinies, the Brown Shirts and the Yellow Jacks. The Yanks as a team had the will to win. The other side couldn't match it.

When there is no more will to win there will be no more Yanks on the front page. They will have gone into limbo, along with the quiet life, the cottage small by a waterfall and Americans who would rather be right than be president. There are no signs of that yet. It may be tough getting the side out until G. I. Joe gets wised up and some old-timers get back into the lineup. But people who know the score never count out the Yanks, because the Yanks don't aim to finish in second division, ever.

Smart people watch their money so closely they manage to keep all their bills paid.

Some talk of shorter skirts is going the rounds. If they want to do it quickly, consider the lowly mouse.

Lots of folk don't know enough to learn as much as they lead their friends to think they know.

Russia Tries A Peace Offensive

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—RUSSIA has started a new peace offensive. Her tactics of confusion now will be employed to keep the American mobilization from materializing. It is a maneuver that will not succeed. For while the move may gain time for both sides and may keep large-scale war from breaking out this year, there is so little trust and faith in the Kremlin's word or purpose that defense preparations will proceed as planned.

The announcement that Jacob Malik will assume the presidency of the Security Council of the United Nations on August 1—the date on which the established rule about rotation in office called for a Russian representative to begin presiding—caught Washington by surprise.

It was interpreted immediately as a retreat and an advance at the same time by the Communist regime. For it is believed that the Kremlin made a strategic blunder in moving out of the security council merely on account of the unwillingness of the other powers to recognize Communist China. The Russians didn't imagine that the U.N. would ever be called on by the United States to impose military sanctions and send troops and ships to Korea to strike back at the North Korean aggressors. What the Russians lost then was a chance to veto the step and ball up the machinery of the U.N. Now they have come back to the Security Council to see what they can do to prevent the U.N. from developing further into an anti-communist alliance.

AT THE SAME TIME, the Russians will have a peace plan. They will undoubtedly pose before the world as anxious to restore peace. They will agree to use their influence to bring about the withdrawal of the North Korean forces, provided terms are agreed upon concerning future elections. It is believed, however, the exact formula will not be offered now. Instead, the plan probably will call for withdrawal of the North Korean forces and the submission of the whole question to the Security Council to discuss and negotiate.

By using the excuse that it was Russia's turn to preside over the Security Council, the Moscow government could be "saving face." It was one way to reverse its policy without seeming to make any bare-faced surrender to the Western powers who have stood firm in the face of the many weeks of boycott by the Russians.

The Soviet envoy, of course, will not be able to use his post as presiding officer to invalidate any action that has already been taken. If he attempts to do so, his action will be blocked. It does mean definitely, on the other hand, that a Russian veto must be expected against any further moves by the Security Council to line up strength behind the United States in the Korean war.

These technicalities may become academic if a genuine peace plan is offered by Russia. It will have to be a complete reversal for the North Koreans, too. It will no bring any recognition of Communist China from the American government either.

THERE IS an "appeasement" strategy which some of the nations which have recognized Communist China have been sponsoring behind the scenes. It involves a vote by the United States against seating Communist China but acquiescence in a majority vote by other powers favoring recognition. The assumption is that America will not use the veto against admitting Communist China.

Would Moscow then pull back the North Koreans? Would the United States suffer a blow in prestige in the Asiatic world if the fighting stops before the tide of battle has turned and the North Koreans have been driven back to the 38th parallel? These are questions that doubtless will not be answered overnight. The talking and negotiating in the U.N. may be going on for weeks as the American forces drive northward. But the truly significant thing today is that another important step has been taken by Russia—and it isn't in the direction of a world war.

In Korea

By HAL BOYLE

Country Difficult to Know

YOU JUDGE a strange place by your eyes, your nose, your sense of taste—and how the people in it treat you.

Korea is an old and cynical country now torn by a fresh cruelty, but a cruelty it is used to. It is like Sicily in this respect. In the past 4,000 years it has been trampled often by foreign conquerors.

Like Sicily, too, it has a distinctive odor and it raises wondrous vegetation. Unlike Sicily, it has much conflict and its chief crop is rice.

An Iowa farmer might sympathize with the Korean peasant's problems of climate, but he might be shocked that they use human night soil to fertilize their fields.

From the air at this season Korea looks fresh and fair—a country much like eastern China, or perhaps the Czechs. The valleys appear beautifully kept, and the mountains are green.

When you land, however, you find a region overpopulated and crowded, clad by an ancient poverty and suffering from lack of sanitation.

There are railroads and power lines to show the stamp of the western world. Yet the children to be made in muddy streets filled with bare shins.

Other children, and adults, too, stoop in squalor beside village tubs or at the roadside. What came from the land goes back to the land: that of the rugged economy of timeless destination.

SOMETHING OF this kind of life can be found in some remote parts of America, too, but it is not typical of America. It is typical of Korea, where people have been degraded by centuries of aggression and ignorance.

What do they think of Americans? Well, in this town there is a big banner reading: "Welcome to United Nations and United States Troops in Korea." But there is no cheering such as greeted American troops in France, Belgium and Holland when they came to drive an invader from those lands.

Perhaps this lack of enthusiasm is an Oriental trait; perhaps it is not. Perhaps it is a cynical attitude of doubt as to the motives of any foreigners; and again perhaps it is not.

I have not been here long enough to pretend to know, but I do know it kind of makes an American uneasy. I haven't seen this kind of indifference since Americans fought through Arab North Africa.

It is an American trait, I suppose, to expect people to be more glad to see us than we have a right to expect. No one enjoys having his home just a pinpoint in a battlefield.

There is, however, one difference between the Arabs and the Koreans: the South Koreans voluntarily raised an army that is fighting stubbornly and well, inside Americans in defense of their homeland.

Social Affairs

Miss Elizabeth Berky Wed To Earl Zinkham On Friday

MISS ELIZABETH BERKY OF BUTLER, PA., and Earl Zinkham were married Friday evening at 7:30 in the home of the groom and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Zinkham, on Franklin st.

Rev. John Bauman heard the exchange of vows in the double-ring service. The bride and groom stood at a fireplace setting of palms with candles lighting mantel background arrangement of white gladioli, astors, feverfew and baby's breath.

The families and a few friends witnessed the ceremony.

The traditional wedding marches heralded the approach of the bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Harry Thompson of Butler.

The bride's gown of cloud-blue slipper satin was floor-length, styled with fitted bodice and pleated stand-up collar and full skirt. She wore matching mitts of marquisette, trimmed with the satin of her gown.

Maline in cloud blue framed her face and covered a headpiece of mixed flowers. The veil of maline was shoulder length. The cattleya orchid in her shower bouquet was surrounded by white roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Elizabeth St. Charles of Butler was matron of honor. With her lime green organza gown she wore a corsage of lavender larkspur, yellow daisies and statice. Arthur Zinkham of Leetonia served his brother as best man. Both mothers of the couple, Mrs. Carrie Wingard of Butler and Mrs. Zinkham, chose navy blue costumes with white accessories and corsages of yellow roses, to wear to the wedding.

The newlyweds received 75 of their friends at a reception in the Zinkham home. Mrs. Arthur Zinkham assisted the groom's mother with the reception plans. The three-tiered wedding cake served to the guests was topped with a tiny bride and groom.

People were present from Akron, Butler, Salem, Youngstown, Ellwood City and Zelienople, Pa.

After a 10-day honeymoon in Canada the Zinkhams will be at home at 317½ S. McKean st., Butler. For traveling, the bride wore a green and white bemberg print, white accessories and the orchid from her corsage.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Zinkham are employed at the Deshon Veterans Administration Hospital at Butler.

ATTRACTED BY distinctive patterns and materials of men's ties, women are transforming them this fall into scarves and costume accents. Wife (right), wearing a bow tie, converts her husband's worn four-in-hands to her own uses. She adjusts (upper left) the rosette choker that brightens her evening gown, and models (lower left) an opened-out long tie entwined with pearls to dress up her suit.

Presbyterians Hold Youth Talent Show

A YOUTH TALENT show planned by the Senior High and Junior High Westminster Fellowships of the First Presbyterian Church was presented last night in the social hall of the Church.

Fifteen young people of Salem presented a program of vocal numbers, tap dancing, piano, string and horn numbers as well as baton twirling. In addition to the individual presentations, Dolores Buta and Darrell Askey sang a soprano-tenor duet and Barbara Ross and Gerry Van Hovel played a duo-piano number, "Mountain Concerto."

Vonda Lee Sponseller was in charge of ticket sales, assisted by Lois Bruckner and Carol Luke. Lois Smith was stage manager, while Jerry Rice served as master of ceremonies, assisted by Bob Tarzan. The accompanists were Mrs. Steve Odoran and Mr. Ben Bailey.

Pictures of the various performers were taken throughout the evening and will be presented to each young person taking part in the program.

Mrs. Lottman Hostess To Jolly Bingo Club

Mrs. Harry Lottman was hostess to members of the Jolly Bingo Club Friday evening at her home on Perry st.

Lunch was served to the guests at the conclusion of an evening of bingo. Prizes went to Mrs. James Roessler, Mrs. Clyde Brown, Mrs. Emmor Achelson and Mrs. Rollan Ritchey.

Aug. 11 Mrs. Harvey Breitenstein will entertain the club at her home on the Georgetown rd.

Mary Lou Vincent Honored At Party

SOMETHING unique in the way of parties was the PIG party Friday evening for Miss Mary Lou Vincent, who will be married Sunday, Aug. 6, to Kenneth Jack Duncan of Bowling Green.

Arranged by Miss Vincent's cousin, Mrs. Wilbur Sangree of Sevakene Lake, the 12 supper guests were introduced to their food without the benefit of table silver. Places at the tables were marked with "troughs" filled with candy corn to carry out the pig theme. Napkins were dish cloths also given Miss Vincent.

Canasta honors went to Miss Vincent, Mrs. Mary Dotson, Mrs. Jack Hovis, Miss Marguerite Vincent, Miss Elinor Currier and Miss Naomi Ovington. A clothes basket of gifts was presented to the honor guest.

Daily Dozen

By BOB DIXON

THE fellow was complaining about the poor seats he'd been getting for Cleveland Indians ball games.

"You'd think with 78,000 seats in that stadium, I'd get a good one once in a while just by coincidence," he said.

"But I wind up in deep left field or high in the second deck almost every time."

We know what you mean, chum. They're still mad, by the way, over the World Series seats in Youngstown. They weren't bad, they just didn't exist.

Personally, we've always had a yearning to sit in the front row box at the corner of the dugout, so we could ogle at the players as they came and went.

But it seems those seats are occupied only by people owning not less than 10 percent of the club's stock. Of course, that particular section might be open some weekday when the Indians play the Browns and both teams are about 20 games off the pace.

Anytime you get a ticket calling for a seat anywhere between Sections 13 through 29, you can consider your luck good. Those two sections mark first and third bases.

At football games (the Browns, of course) those lousy baseball tickets would be priceless. A seat in far right field will put you on the 50-yard line.

That leads to another moot question: Why does everyone like to sit down low on the 50?

We believe you'll find such a seat a poor one because you are in a position where a full view of the field is impossible. How can you see a ball carrier going around the opposite end when fully 17 big 240-pounders are in the way?

We like a second deck end zone spot at the Cleveland Stadium. With the aid of a pair of binoculars for play at the far end, you've got it made. You can see those holes open up, watch all the blocking, catch the ends going down under passes and don't miss much.

Such a seat isn't any good, though, unless you are up high. In any event, you're going to take what you get, we guess, unless you are one of those stockholders.

Tribe's Five Homers Beat Red Sox

Rosen Collects Nos. 28 And 29

Early Wynn Is Stingy In Five Hit Victory

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE panic is on in the American League. Detroit's lead, shriveled to a half game, is melting before the charge of New York and Cleveland.

With the Tiger pitching folding and the Yanks and Indians slashing home runs, the American jumble now is tighter than the National.

Detroit still is on top. But how much longer can they hold on? Although they braced against Boston Thursday, they bowed to Philadelphia, 7-6, last night. Now they have lost six of their last eight.

Vic Wertz hit his 17th and 18th homers against the A's but even that wasn't enough. A two-run spurt in the ninth on Elmer Valo's single, Sam Champman's triple and an infield out gave the A's the win over reliever Hal White.

While this disaster befell the Tigers, the Yanks hammered out a 4-1 edge over Chicago on homers by Hank Bauer and Phil Rizzuto and tight six-hit pitching by Allie Reynolds.

Bill Wight and Reynolds duelled 0-0 until the sixth. Then Wight gave Rizzuto his first walk and Bauer followed with his eighth homer. Rizzuto opened the eighth with his third homer and the Yanks pounded Wight for four straight singles and another run before Howie Judson came to his relief.

Al Rosen, never considered a threat to home run honors, hit his 28th and 29th for Cleveland in the Tribe's 13-1 ramble over Boston. Rosen now leads the majors, one ahead of Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh, sidelined by a sore back.

LARRY DOBY, Luke Easter and Joe Gordon smacked one homer each as the Indians climbed all over Maurice McDermott, Jim McDonald and Dick Littlefield. It was Doby's first appearance since he was hit by a pitched ball Monday night in an exhibition at Brooklyn and he got three for three.

St. Louis pulled one out of the fire in the ninth again, edging Washington, 5-4, on Ken Wood's single with two out.

The National League race was shoved into the background by the rain-interrupted struggle between Chicago and Brooklyn that was not finished until 12:23 a. m. (EST), almost five hours after it started. Chicago won, 12-5, leaving the Brooks in fourth place, five games out of first.

To add to the confusion, the Cubs lost a run in the fifth because Carmen Mauro batted out of turn. The lineup that Manager Frankie Frisch gave the P. A. announcer didn't jibe with the one coach Spud Davis gave the umpires.

Bonus Bob Miller, the Phils rookie sensation, boosted the National league leaders' margin to 2 1/2 games with a 4-1 win over Pittsburgh. It was Miller's ninth success.

Three runs off Bill MacDonald in the third with the help of sloppy Pirate fielding did the job for the Phils.

The squad leaves Sunday for Columbus, where it plays in the first round of the tournament Monday.

Bliss Hammers Hub Nine 10-1

Russell Slings One Hitter; Demings Win

There's little doubt about it now. It's going to take a rough team to stop the Bliss softball aggregation. Friday night the Cardinals hung a stinging 10-1 defeat on The Hub, heretofore second place club, for their fourteenth victory.

Wayne Russell gave The Hub only one hit, Bliss tagged Dave Ehrhart for 11 safe blows. Jimmy Primm racked up three hits for the winners.

The loss, coupled with Demings 3-0 victory over Mullins, dropped The Hub into third place behind the Pumpmackers.

Kenny Bruderly's pitching for Demings didn't leave much to be desired, either. He shutout Mullins with only two base knocks, while Demings picked up six off Hoss Wright.

In the lone Class A contest, Fisher News toppled Peoples

Lumber, 10-5, despite a three-run homer by Edgar Wilson. Bill Sheen, the winning hurler, allowed six hits.

Money Problems

By GAYLE TALBOT
(For Hugh Fullerton Jr.)

THE income tax authorities willing, it now appears more than likely that Joe Louis will come out of his semi-retirement to fight Ezzard Charles at the Yankee Stadium in September.

It is the only means the once-great champion has of settling a six-figure tab with Uncle Sam, and it would seem the part of wisdom for Washington to approve the reported "deal" whereby Joe would surrender his entire end of the purse in exchange for a full financial pardon.

The layman might well be puzzled at Joe's ability to run up such a bill with the government. Even those closest to the situation are somewhat vague about it. Their awed remarks about Joe's terrific spending ability, while undoubtedly true, still leaves a question or two unanswered.

But there it is: The man who earned some $4,000,000 while holding the heavyweight title for 11 years owes a pile of money, and he's got to make a stab at coming up with it. The only way he can earn that kind of money is by fighting again.

So it is too bad. Louis was a great fighter—maybe even the greatest ever to pull on a glove.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER

A FEW weeks ago the Boston Red Sox were so bad that their manager, Joe McCarthy, quit the club and went into retirement. Steve O'Neill succeeded him.

Shortly thereafter, in the all-star game, Ted Williams splintered his elbow in losing a decision to an outfield wall at Comiskey Park, and he has been out of action ever since.

Having thus lost McCarthy, the brain, and Williams, the brawn, the Red Sox should have gone plummeting toward the second division.

Take a look at them today. While they are in fourth place, they are only a few games off the pace.

They may not be the club to beat, as everybody thought they would be at the start of the season, but they most certainly remain one of the clubs the rest must get rid of to clinch the American League pennant.

It is inconceivable that they are merely maneuvering themselves in position to finish second again as they have done the last two seasons in a row. They must be getting ready either to win the championship or to go slumping off toward the nether regions.

At the moment they present the most interesting baseball story of the year—the story of the team which, in pre-season calculations could not lose, they almost did just that to the disbelief of every one and now has come on again to be a hot contender for the stretch drive.

The story of Boston's failure to attain a higher place in the standings can be found in the record of games among the top contenders—Detroit, New York, Cleveland and the Red Sox. The latter have failed to take an edge over any of their three rivals.

House Readies Anti-Red Bill

Will Require Federal Check On Communists

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP)—The House un-American Activities Committee will begin work next week on the final draft of a bill calling for federal checks on the Communist party and so-called Communist "front" groups.

Chairman Wood (D-Ga.) told reporters today that the committee will work behind closed doors in an effort to whip the controversial bill into shape for quick action in the House.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved a companion measure, known as the Mundt-Ferguson-Johnston bill, but it has not been called up for floor debate.

As now drawn, the bill would require the registration with the Justice Department of Communist political organizations as well as organizations deemed to be following the Communist line.

Both types of organizations would be required to list officers annually. They also would have to account for receipts and say where the money came from.

2 E. Liverpool Men In 'Lost' Army Unit

A U. S. REGIMENTAL COMMAND POST IN KOREA, July 29—(AP)—A number of Ohioans were in an infantry company cut-off and surrounded and forced to make a three-day, 30-mile march through North Korean lines to safety, correspondents reported yesterday.

The surrounded unit was Fox company of the First Cavalry division. It also included attached members from a heavy weapons company. Isolated last Monday southwest of Yongdong, the unit made its way across rice paddies, mountain ranges and through valleys to American lines.

Supplies were dropped to the encircled soldiers from light planes.

Associated Press Correspondents Hal Boyle and Don Whitehead listed these Ohioans as members of the company:

Pfc. William J. Meyers, Route 1, Delphos; Pvt. Lloyd P. Poland of Lima; Pvt. Richard E. Corey, Ashtabula; Cpl. Frederick L. Harton of Zanesville; Cpl. Harry Hull, East Liverpool; Pvt. Harold C. Davis, East Liverpool; Pvt. James H. Ferres of Cleveland; Pfc. Everett E. Johnson, Cincinnati, and Pvt. Earl N. Riat, Terra Park.

The first pens were hollow, tubular stalks of marsh grass, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

MAP ABOVE shows the route recommended by the State Highway department for the Ohio Turnpike. It would run from the western extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, across Ohio in a northwesterly direction to the Indiana border, passing through Cuyahoga county approximately 16 miles south of Cleveland's Public Square. Cleveland announces it will fight to have the route moved north in Cuyahoga county to a line about 5 1/2 miles from Public Square, "to provide more traffic for the turnpike." The Ohio Turnpike commission is expected to decide the route within two weeks.

Hall, Stoffer Lead Class A Batters

Red Hall and Al Stoffer are currently pacing the Class A batting race, each hitting at a .421 clip. Hall, CIO outfielder, topped the league at the end of the first round of play. Stoffer, who plays for Terminal Tavern, has moved into contention in the past few weeks.

In third place, with a .413 mark, is Hardgrove of Butler Grange, followed by Mike Linder of the Saxons, batting .391.

With only a month of play left, the top 10 batters will square away in their remaining games, shooting for the top spot. The leading hitter will receive a league trophy at the end of the year.

The averages include players with at least 35 times at bat and covers Thursday night's games.

Come Now, Steve

CLEVELAND, July 29—(AP)—Boston Manager Steve O'Neill demanded last night that the peepholes on the centerfield scoreboard be closed. They were.

O'Neill seemed to think someone with a spy glass was catching signals and relaying them to Cleveland batters. Umpire Charles Berry relayed the request to Cleveland Manager Lou Boudreau, and the holes were closed. Boudreau remarked that only a player could pick up signals, and there were no Cleveland players back there.

The Boston manager's beef came immediately after Al Rosen's first-inning homer. After the holes were closed, there were four more Tribe homers—three of them in a row in the eighth inning.

Leetonia Announces Football Schedule

An eight game 1950 football schedule was completed this week by Leetonia High School, whose team this season will be playing under Coach Bob Gibson, recent Youngstown College graduate.

The Bears will play Poland and Springfield township this fall, a pair of newcomers to their grid card.

One open date, October 6, remains on the schedule, but it may be filled at a later date.

The first game will be at East Palestine on Sept. 15.

The Schedule:
Sept 15 — At East Palestine
Sept 22 — Boardman
Sept 29 — McDonald
Oct. 12 — At Columbiana
Oct. 20 — Poland
Oct. 28 — At Lisbon
Nov. 3 — Sebring
Nov. 10 — Springfield Twp.

POHOLSKY'S FOURTH
ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(AP)—Tom Poholsky, Rochester Cardinal right hander, hurled his fourth shutout of the season as the campaign reached the halfway mark. With 10 wins at that point he is well ahead of last year's record when he won 14 and lost 10.

Poholsky, a native of Detroit, will be 21 on Aug. 26. A 200-pounder, Poholsky broke in with Durham, N. C., in 1945. In 1947 at Columbus, Ga., he led the league with 16 victories against three losses.

STINGY WITH HITS

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.—(AP)—Dick Umberger, Winston-Salem southpaw, gave up two runs during a recent 27-inning stretch in a Class B Carolina League. He blanked Durham 1-0, shut out Burlington 11-0 and beat Fayetteville, 4-2. But the tail Pennsylvania didn't get excited over the feat. Last year at Lebanon, Pa., in the North Atlantic League he tossed a pair of no-hit games within eight days.

BARGAIN AND BUST

NEW YORK—(AP)—Each summer finds bargains and busts at the Saratoga yearling sales. In 1948 Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham paid $26,000 for a colt she later found well named. She called him Big Mistake and at three he's still a maiden. From the same sale, Tom Gray of Tulsa bought one yearling for $15,000. It was Oil Capitol, winner of $106,956 last season.

STADIUM FOR TEL AVIV

RAMAT GAN, Israel—(AP)—One of the largest sports stadiums in the Middle East is now being built in this little municipality near Tel Aviv.

It will seat 16,000 fans and have standing room for an additional 34,000. It will be ready for the third Maccabiah games on Sept. 27. The cost of the stadium is estimated at $2,800,000.

Michigan State's 1950 football team will have a Carey-to-Carey passing combination; Quarterback Bill tossing to twin brother Bob, an end.

LOSES AFTER HITLESS SKEIN
ALBANY, Ga.—(AP)—Floyd Woodridge, Albany's Cardinals' right hander, pitched nine hitless innings against Americus, fanned 15 and walked only one—but lost. Woodridge entered the game at the start of the fourth inning. He was beaten on successive hits in the 13th.

Senate Differs On Foreign Aid

Talk Of Diverting
Funds From Allies

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP)—With prospects that President Truman soon will ask $4,000,000,000 more to re-arm U. S. allies, a sharp senate fight appeared brewing today over how much can safely be spent on European recovery.

There was renewed talk of diverting into the arms program some funds earmarked for economic assistance to western Europe.

Democratic and Republican leaders of congress will meet at the White House Monday to discuss the new arms aid proposal with Mr. Truman, Secretary of Defense Johnson and Secretary of State Acheson.

Word that the increase may total $4,000,000,000 came from several sources, including Republican senators who conferred yesterday with John Foster Dulles, Acheson's Republican adviser.

It would augment the $1,222,500,000 authorization already approved by congress to furnish arms during the current fiscal year to nations abroad.

There were reports that the United States is going to insist that its defense partners bear a sizable share of the rearmament burden themselves. One military leader said that if they get $12,000,000,000 from this country over the next three years, they will have to put up $8,000,000,000 of their own.

Canton City Workers Continue Walkout

CANTON, July 29—(AP)—Employees of four city departments turned down last night an offer from city council's finance committee, designed to settle a four-day walkout.

Representatives of the United Public Workers (Ind.) met with the committee and received its offer of a wage boost of 7½ cents an hour. They turned it down, and the committee offered eight cents. The union representatives demanded 10, and the negotiations broke down.

Last night's developments followed an assurance from acting Mayor Ira Casper that the council would approve the 7½ cent raise, to apply to 212 workers in the garbage, paint, street and water departments.

It was estimated 12,800 garbage cans have gone unemptied since Tuesday.

The water supply in this city of 116,000 is mainly automatic, and has not been interrupted.

It is estimated that well over a million civilians died in World War II as a result of air bombardments.

A SHARP ATTACK on the U. S. and UN is believed being prepared by Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik, shown above in a characteristic view, for use when he assumes Security Council chairmanship for August. His reappearance will end a 29-week boycott.

$1,500 Appropriated For County Roads

Columbiana county commissioners Friday adopted a resolution appropriating $1,500 as this county's share in the federal aid improvement program on secondary roads.

The improvements, which will cost approximately $2,000, were approved by the federal government and the state highway department, and include:

A distance of 1.502 miles from Franklin Square south towards Lisbon on the Lisbon-Canfield rd; 1.237 miles of the Mechanics-town-Hanover rd, beginning at Route 644 and northward to Hanover; Post Lake rd from Winona eastward to Depot rd; Sheen rd from Depot rd east to Route 45.

The roads will be given a bituminous surface.

Canton Widow Slain In Home By Burglar

CANTON, July 29—(AP)—The slaying of a 64-year-old widow who lived alone was blamed by police today on a burglar.

The body of Mrs. Helena Teubner was found last night on the floor of her blood-spattered bedroom in a small house on the southeast side. A niece made the discovery.

Detective Capt. William D. Harrison said burglary was the motive. He said the woman had been beaten to death with some heavy object. She apparently had been struck down as she tried to get out of bed.

The house was ransacked. Carpets were torn loose, dresser drawers were scattered about, pictures were torn from the walls and vases were emptied of artificial flowers.

High Steel Production Expected In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, July 29—(AP)—Steel production in the Mahoning valley will increase to the highest level in history, exceeding even the best records of World War II.

Deluged with orders and the growing pressure for more steel, production men have scheduled virtually all steel units for the coming week, the only idle ones being those on which normal rebuilding and repairwork is under way.

Indications are that 74 open hearths, 24 blast furnaces, three bessemer converters, and two electric furnaces will operate in the district. This is an increase of two open hearths and a blast furnace over current production.

3 Killed, One Injured In Auto-Truck Collision

ZANESVILLE, July 29—(AP)—Three elderly Columbus residents were killed and a fourth critically injured yesterday in the head-on collision of an automobile and a log-carrying truck 15 miles south-east of here.

Ben D. Niesz, about 68, and his wife, Margaret, about 63, were killed instantly, the state highway patrol reported. Mrs. Ida Gallagher, 72, suffered a fractured skull and died five hours later in a hospital.

Mrs. Winnie Moore, 59, also of Columbus, who suffered severe chest injuries, was reported in "very serious" condition.

Obituary

Emanuel Raffaele

Mr. and Mrs. Americus Migliarini of Columbia st have returned home from Brooklyn where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Migliarini's twin brother, Emanuel Raffaele. Mr. Raffaele, 27, was buried last Saturday. He had been electrocuted while dismantling an electric drill.

Survivors besides his sister include his wife, Connie and seven-month-old daughter, Frances.

Fred C. Meehan

LISBON, July 29—Fred C. Meehan, 75, of R. D. 5, Lisbon, died at 9:10 a. m. today in the Henthorne Chronic Hospital. He was admitted Wednesday following a stroke.

Born in Center Township June 1, 1875, the son of John and Margaret Shive Meehan, he was a lifelong resident of this vicinity and a member of St. Jacob's Reformed Church.

Survivors include four sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Gaver of Youngstown, Mrs. Hattie Swonger, Mrs. Flora Virden and Mrs. Ollie Carnes, all of Lisbon, and three brothers, Clyde of Lisbon, Merle of Superior, Neb., and Folie of Detroit.

Funeral service will be held at 2 Tuesday at the Eells-Leggett funeral home here, with Rev. E. D. Fager, pastor of St. Jacob's Church officiating. Burial will be made in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call Monday afternoon and evening.

13 Local Notary Public Applicants Pass Exams

LISBON, July 29—Thirteen applicants for notary public commissions successfully passed examinations conducted in Courtroom No. 2 here Friday by Attorneys Joseph Cooper of East Liverpool and Alfred Fitch of Salem, committee of examiners for Columbiana County.

The successful applicants were: Dorothy Johanning, W. Clare Manypenny, Helen Vukas, William J. Savage and Harry Delbert Smith of East Liverpool; Elma Auld, Verna L. Coy, Russell McLaughlin and M. E. Bush, of Salem; Ruth Cope, Mildred L. Grate and Gladys Windram, of Lisbon, and Anna A. Babbitt, Columbiana.

Horse's Broken Leg Repaired; Will Live

CANTON, July 29—(AP)—A 14-year-old show horse named Sally has a second lease on life.

When she suffered a broken leg from the kick of another horse, her owner didn't want to lose the $10,000 animal, nor the foal which is expected in another seven months.

So a hurry call brought Dr. Richard L. Rudy from Ohio State University. He spent five hours yesterday putting eight metal pins in the leg bone and wrapping it with splints. Then he rigged up a canvas sling in which to suspend the mare.

She'll be in the device for a month, but after that she'll still be able to use the leg.

English, Russian and Chinese are the most widely spoken languages in the world.

Alliance Thieves Take $900 In Cash

ALLIANCE, July 29—Alliance police today were confronted with their second safe blasting job in a week.

Mrs. Creve Mongelluzzo of 2308 S. Rockhill ave returning to her home Friday afternoon after an absence of several days found the safe located in an upstairs bedroom shattered by a blast.

An examination revealed that approximately $900 in currency was taken which included bills in denominations of fives, tens, and twenties and approximately $100 in silver coins. A $1,000 in stocks and $2,000 in war bonds were also taken. Jewelry missing included a diamond ring valued at $525, a ladies and man's $100 wrist watch.

Eight Hurt

cident at 8 p. m. Thursday on a country road south of Negley.

Patrolmen said Cunningham lost control of his car which went off the left side of the road into a ditch.

Hit-Skipper Arrested

No one was injured in a hit-skip accident at 10:15 p. m. Thursday on Route 164, near the junction of Routes 224 and 164 at McKay's Corners.

Patrolmen said Vernon L. Lawrence, 31, of Struthers made a "U" turn at the intersection and collided with the car operated by Edwin C. Taylor, 25, of Lockwood.

In attempting to get away from the scene of the accident, Lawrence pulled into a private drive where he bumped another car. When he backed out on the highway he ran into the front of the car driven by Stella Ball, 24, of North Lima.

Lawrence then drove to Struthers where patrolmen arrested him on charges of failure to yield the right-of-way and leaving the scene of an accident.

Car, Tractor Collide

At 9:15 p. m. Thursday on a county road south of Sebring, the car driven by Robert Cornet, 45, of North Georgetown ran into the rear of the farm tractor operated by Norman Reese, 33, of R. D. 2, Beloit.

Reese has lacerations of the right leg, bruises of the shoulder and left leg. Bernice Reese received bruises of the face and abrasions and bruises of the leg. Cornet was arrested by patrolmen for drunken driving and was cited before Mayor Harry Vincent.

Hits Power Pole

No one was injured in the single-car accident at 11:45 p. m. Thursday on the Winona gravel rd four miles south of Salem when John Fullum, 25, of Greenford lost control of his car and struck a pole.

Standard Oil To Hike Gas Price Half Cent

Standard Oil service stations in Salem and throughout Ohio will raise gasoline prices one-half cent a gallon, effective Monday.

Pennsy Steeler Pulls Dining-Lounge Car

The first of 40 modernized dining-lounge cars being remodeled by the Pennsylvania Railroad was placed in service today on the Steeler, running between Pittsburgh and Cleveland. The 40 cars will be completely modernized at a cost of more than $4,000,000, and work will be completed next year.

Dr. Hendricks, Wife Return To Iowa City

Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Hendricks of Iowa City, Iowa, have returned home after a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hendricks on Homewood ave.

Dr. Hendricks has just completed a three-year residency at State University Hospital at Iowa City and is now qualified as a specialist in internal medicine. He will take up the practice of medicine Sept. 1 at Davenport, Ia.

Last Wednesday Dr. and Mrs. Hendricks, with his parents, were dinner guests in the home of his aunt, Mrs. Edith Kaylor in Alliance.

A WANT AD CAN FIND IT

"Just Watch My Smoke!"

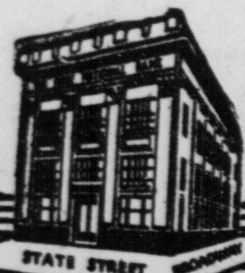

The other day a young man came into the bank for the first time. He had always been known as a "good spender." But stepping up to the new account window, and with a bright look in his eye, he said, "Give me a savings pass book. I've never saved a cent in my life, but the finest girl in the world has promised to marry me next year and from now on, just watch my smoke!"

Successful saving always requires a definite purpose. With such an object in view, steady saving becomes a real pleasure. You'll enjoy saving at the First National.
